Peter Indelicato, MD
Clinical Applications of Allograft

Dr. Peter A. Indelicato, University of Florida’s head team physician from 1977-2012, is one of the nation’s leading orthopaedic surgeons in the field of Sports Medicine. He was honored by his peers as the first-ever recipient of the National College Team Physician of the Year Award.

Dr. Indelicato attended New York Medical College, completed his orthopaedic residency training at NYU and spent two years in the US Navy serving as a staff orthopaedic surgeon at NAS Corpus Christi, Texas. Following this, he served as a sports medicine fellow at the Kerlan-Jobe Orthopaedic Clinic participating in the care of the Los Angeles Rams, Lakers, Dodgers and Kings. In 1977, he was appointed as assistant professor in Orthopaedic Surgery and Director of Sports Medicine at UF. In 1993, he was named Medical Director of the Shands Sports Medicine Center at Hampton Oaks. In 1994, 1996-1999, 2001-2004, his name was published in “The Best Doctors in America.” The Southeastern Conference named him the “SEC Doctor of the Year” in 2002-2003.

Dr. Indelicato has lectured extensively around the country on the recognition and management of athletic knee and shoulder injuries.

Caroline (Carrie) Hartill
Executive Vice President and Chief Scientific Officer, RTI Surgical

Carrie Hartill was named executive vice president and chief scientific officer of RTI Surgical in July 2013. She joined RTI in November 2001 and served as Vice President of Quality Assurance and Regulatory Affairs since 2003. She was named CSO in March 2007. In June 2010, in addition to her role as CSO, she was named executive vice president.

In her role at RTI, Hartill oversees all research and development, quality assurance, regulatory affairs and clinical studies. She is an appointed member of the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) State of Florida Organ and Tissue Transplant Advisory Committee. She has served as a board member for BioFlorida as chair of the Accreditation Committee, chair of the Quality Council and board member of the AATB, and as chair for the Tissue Products Workgroup of the Advanced Medical Technology Association (AdvaMed).
